

Slovakia is said not to be ready for Chinese investors

Author: SITA - Slovak News Agency | Published: 14.12.2010

Slovakia is not ready for the arrival of investors from China yet. As stated by the head of the Slovak Investment and Trade Development Agency (SARIO) Robert Šimončíč, it is necessary to have very strong partners who are able to open the doors, especially in China. He said it was high time that the SR and the whole of Europe prepared for the influx of Chinese investors. "Investments from this country will accelerate in the coming years. There is a surplus of money in China. Even if we do nothing they will definitely come to Europe. Therefore an agenda needs to be prepared," said Šimončíč.

Slovak Ministry of Economy has repeatedly announced an increased interest of Chinese investors in the Slovak market. In addition to the car manufacturer JAC Motors or the electronics company Guangzhou Echom Science & Technology, potential investors from other countries have also expressed their interest in Slovakia. "There were people from Japan, USA, Italy and other countries," said Šimončíč. According to him, SARIO has been developing several interesting investment projects.

14.12.2010 10:19, SITA - Slovak News Agency