The city of Bratislava wants to find out what course its development will take in the next 10 years. In this connection it prepares the 2010 - 2020 Economic and Social Development Programme. It will be a broad-range medium-term document that will map the current situation and determine goals for the near future. It will be prepared by the civil association Academia Istropolitana Nova, selected on the basis of the public tender. The costs of the document, which should be prepared by the end of May 2010 and should be presented to the city corporation, are estimated at over EUR 114 thousand.
